DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 14-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brucker et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,500,012. Brucker et al. teaches a treatment device assembly for an endoscopic surgical instrument comprising a hollow needle/electrode, a control mechanism means for extending and retracting the needle/electrode, a means for interlocking said assembly to a housing, the cannula including a curvable surface (see the tip of the cannula) for deflecting the needle at an angle from the primary axis, having a wire, first and second ends, means for tensioning said wire, means for deflecting in a curved end, generator for supplying radio frequency energy, and a fiber optic disposed in the axial lumen of a needle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 14-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Makower (WO 92/10142) in view of Marcus et al. U.S. Patent No. 5,295,484. Makower teaches all of the limitations of the claims except for explicitly stating an electrode utilizing radio frequency ablation. Marcus et al. teaches that each of the various ablative generators such as radio frequency, laser, microwave, etc., are all suitable sources of ablative power source to ablate tissue. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to utilize the electrode device of Makower with an radio frequency ablative power source for ablation since radio frequency ablative devices and their equivalents are well known in the prior art and it would have merely an obvious matter of design choice to have utilized any suitable method of ablation. Furthermore, it is the Examiner's position that it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to substitute any ablative source since the Examiner takes the position that laser and radio frequency are equivalents for their use in the art of ablation and the selection of any of these known equivalents to ablate tissue would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 14-30 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
